

LOS ANGELES-LONG BEACH-GLENDALE METROPOLITAN DIVISION
(LOS ANGELES COUNTY)

Holiday season hiring on the rise/Restaurants are the big gainer over the year

The seasonally adjusted unemployment rate in Los Angeles County rose over the month to 5.1 percent in November 2005 from a revised 4.5 percent in October 2005, but was below the rate of 6.5 percent one year ago. Civilian employment receded by 8,000 to 4,667,000 in November 2005, while unemployment expanded by 29,000 to 249,000 over the month. The civilian labor force grew by 21,000 over the month to 4,916,000 in November 2005. (All of the above figures are seasonally adjusted.) The unadjusted unemployment rate for the county was 4.9 percent in November 2005.

The California seasonally adjusted unemployment rate was 5.2 percent in November 2005, 5.2 percent in October 2005, and 6.0 percent a year ago in November 2004. The comparable estimates for the nation were 5.0 percent in November 2005, 5.0 percent in October 2005, and 5.4 percent a year ago.

Between October and November 2005, nonfarm employment in Los Angeles County increased by 17,300 to reach 4,052,800.

- Trade, transportation, and utilities showed the largest month-over increase in payrolls, adding 8,700 jobs. Within trade, transportation and utilities, retail sales augmented payrolls by 10,400. This growth is an expected seasonal expansion, which should continue into the holiday season. Within trade, transportation, and utilities, retail sales growth was offset by declines in wholesale trade (down 300 jobs), and transportation, warehouse, and utilities (down 1,400 jobs).
- Motion pictures and sound recording (up 5,000) drove the information sector to the second largest month-over gain, adding 5,200 jobs. The motion pictures and sound recording industry continues to be a non-seasonal industry with unpredictable month-to-month employment changes.
- Leisure and hospitality posted a month-over decrease of 2,200 jobs, resulting from a decline in employment in: arts, entertainment and recreation (down 1,600); and accommodation and food services (down 600). This decline is a normal seasonal employment change with the end of the summer tourist season.

Between November 2004 and November 2005, nonfarm employment in Los Angeles County posted an increase in payrolls of 19,300 jobs, or 0.5 percent.

- Leisure and hospitality posted the largest year-over employment gain, adding 9,000 jobs. Within leisure and hospitality, accommodation and food services was the largest growing sub-sector, adding 5,600 payrolls, while arts, entertainment and recreation posted an increase of 3,400 jobs over the year. Within accommodation and food services, restaurants (within food services and drinking places) were the big gainer over the year.

- The construction industry sector showed the second largest gain year-over with 7,700 jobs. The bulk of the job growth in construction occurred in the specialty trade contractors, adding 5,200 jobs. Specialty trade contractors are primarily contractors who focus on a specific speciality, such as electrical, plumbing, foundation, and renovation.
- Educational and health services posted the third largest gain with an increase of 6,800 jobs. Within this sector, health care and social assistance posted the highest gain, adding 5,500 jobs.
- Two industries continued their long-term declining trends. Manufacturing, which posted the largest year-over decline (down 6,900), has not recorded a year-over gain since July 1998. Government (down 4,900) has not posted an over-the-year increase since March 2003.
